CLERGYMEN BOUND TO HAVE IT PRESERVED.

Churchmen Who Object to the Newsboys Crying Their Wares and to the Performance of Any Labor on the First Day of the Week.

The closing session of the Sabbath Reform Convention was well attended at the Foundry M. E. Church last even The lower floor and galleries were well filled with an intelligent and carnest gathering of refined ladies and gentlemen, congregated to lend aid to the cause by their presence, influence and financial contributions. The evening was principally given over to short talks and addresses by ministers and distinguished public dignitaries.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the exercises of the evening began by the singing of the familiar national hymn, "America, in which the entire audience joined

Rev. George Elliott, pastor of the Foundry Church, was the presiding officer of the evening, and announced, after the singing, that Rev. Sheldon Jackson would lead in prayer. Rev. Dr. Power of the Christian Church, who was the first speaker, held the audience for fifteen or twenty minutes by the eloquence of his re-marks. He said, among other things, that he did not object to the absence of God in the Constitution, but he cer-tainly did object to foreigners coming to America and trying to abolish the Christian Sabbath in the District of Columbia, and he also objected to railroads being built in the streets of Washington on the Lord's Day.

The president of the meeting intro-duced Rev. Dr. Bartlett of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. Dr. Bartlett's fine personal appearance and manly bearing are so well known as to need no description here. Dr. Bartlett declared that the Sabbath was an American institution, and that it must and would be preserved. He didn't want a Jewish Sabbath, nor a Puritan sabbath, that forbade a man kissing his wife on Sunday, but he did want a good, honest, liberal American Sabbath day of rest when an employe would have law on his side and could "And," added the reverend gentle-men with emphasis. "I want him pro-tected from his employer when he says

Commissioner Douglass was next called for, but failed to respond. Dr. Elliott said that Mr. Douglass told him that he would attend the meeting and deliver an address, and that he had no doubt he would come as soon as he could. He said that he had waited on the Commissioners of the District personally, and he wanted to say that he had never been treated more courteously by any body of public men; that they promised to recommend additional Sunday legislation to the committee of Congress on the District of Columbia, and that they had fulfilled their promise was a matter of history.

MONEY NEEDED. The president said before continuing with the speaking that it was desirable to take up a collection, and he hoped all persons interested in the movement would respond liberally, as there was not money in the treasury sufficient to pay the current expenses of the con-vention, and he doubted if there was enough to pay for the printed pro-gramme in the hands of the audience. He mentioned that "the other side" were using money freely, and that funds were necessary to pay for printing pamphlets and circulars and other expenses necessary to carry on the work.
Printed slips were distributed, and seemed to be signed quite liberally.
They read as follows:

ESCRIPTION FOR LIFE MEMBER, $100. The undersigned agrees to pay the American Sabbath Union $8.50 per month (total, $100) during 1890 in monthly payments or otherwise. Name, _____ Street and number, _____ . Town or city, _____ . State, Subscriptions for patrons was $500; for life director, $1,000. There were also miscellaneous subscription blanks, promise of a church collection blanks and blanks for $1. Secretary Crafts read the Breckinridge bill, saying that the bill was writ-ten by Mr. Breckinridge and introduced in Congress at the request of the union. He said there were no members of Congress except those from California and Nevada but were better protected by their State or Territorial regulations from Sabbath desecration than the citizens of the District of Columbia, and now the District was seeking protection from them.

Hon. C. P. Wickham, member of Congress from Norwalk, Ohio, was next introduced and spoke for thirty minutes. Mr. Wickham is a tall, thinminutes. Mr. Wickham is a tall, thin-faced man, wearing spectacles and a gray mustache. His delivery is rapid and rather jerkey, but effective. He referred to the large number of people who believe in the observance of the seventh day of the week instead of the first.

He said that it is not necessary to place the law upon a religious basis, that it is a civil law passed by civil authority, and it is the duty of Congress to protect the people of the District. It comes within the police power of Congress the same as the forbidding the shuffling of pieces of card-board to dethe ownership of money cause both are destructive of home and appiness and the welfare of the people and upon this basis you can successfully argue in favor of its passage with any man you meet.

Hen. E. A. Morse, M. C., of Massachusetts, followed Mr. Wickham. Mr.
Morse is a large, round-faced gentleman with rather long, black locks, thin
on the crown of his head and combed

He wears a Prince Albert coat, black ousers, a white neck-scarf, ample black mutton-chop whiskers and a diamond pin. He read his address from a type-written copy, but he seemed to be familiar with the copy and delivered it in good volce and without hesitation. It was facetious in places, bristled with good points, and was frequently greeted with applause. At the termination of Mr. Morse's oration the Best invide bill. the Breckinridge bill was unanimously adopted by a rising vote, and the American Sabbath Union convention adjourned for the winter of 1890.

SIMON WOLF'S VIEW.

He Addresses the Congregation at the

After the usual Friday evening service in the Jewish Temple on Eighth street last night the Hon. Simon Wolf took the pulpit to address the small but appreciative congregation upon the greatly agitated question of the Sunday observance and the slight regard of the laws, both civil and moral, concerning it. In his opening remarks no wished the hearers to understand that he did not speak as a Jew, as sectarian, but as a free citizen of the sectarian, but as a free citizen of the United States, stating the various points of law in force and stating that the underlying principle of our Government is the liberty to do what the

THE QUIET OF SUNDAY. conscience of man deems best for him. "The Church and State," said he, "should be separate and distinct, but in the last twenty years the tendency to unite has been remarkable." His ex-cuse for the repeated violations of Sun-day laws was that man is been a creaure of habit, and if one of the means of gratifying a habit is cut off then he seeks another, not questioning the rec-ing the statutes-obeys in the letter. but not in the spirit. "Tis our nature," said Mr. Wolf, "to desire those things we are most re-strained from obtaining." He empha-sized the fact that on the Fourth of July the people closed their various business houses and rejoiced without the compulsion of law merely from the fact that public sentiment was the ani-mating spirit. "If this is done without aw how great would be the success of the Sunday movement if public senti-ment ran in that direction." It is his belief that persons do not condemn as heartily as they should. "The barber, although closing his place of business, goes from hotel to hotel, house to house, his pocket full of razors, scissors, etc., performing his occupation without causing the least comment. Thus we become a race of hypocrites." The speaker then called attention to the fact that daily the newspapers are filled with notices of arrest for selling uor on Sunday, which tends to edu-te people not to respect the law. But," said he, "I am afraid we seek a remedy where none can be found."

He compared the wave of immorality that sweeps over this country to "an epidemic like the influenza, dire, contagious." After a slight pause: "If at home, the true seat of happiness, moral sentiments be not engendered, how can anyone be a devout Jew, Christian or citizen?" Lastly, he held that a solution of the problem lay not in the observance by compulsory law, but by the free and unrestricted acknowledgment of the day as a day of rest and praise. Touching the race question, he expressed the view that as a cloud upon the horizon betokened a storm, so the small black cloud upon our political horizon was the harbinger of ill omen. The negro must be eliminated as a political factor, left severely alone, al-lowed to educate himself and be re spected as a man. "Respectability," he said, "has no color." On the subject of immigration he said he knew many foreigners, representing nearly every nation, who, upon the first hostile gun fired by their respective governments, would prove traitors. Lastly he spoke of the divorce laws, regretting that in one country there should be so many different laws; then, with a devout hope that all the holy ideas regarding the reverence of the Sabbath be realized, he closed.

Great Improvements.

Great Improvements.

It is not many years ago people traveled on horeback or by stages; now fifty miles an hour is not fast enough for them. Formerly people wrote letters that were weeks in reaching their destination; now the telegraph flashes thought around the world, Formerly doctors bled their patients for nearly every complaint; now they use advanced science of the highest order. Professor Austin Flint of Bellevue College says: "The judicious use of alcoholic stimulants is one of the striking characteristics of progress in the practice of medicine durlants is one of the striking characteristics of progress in the practice of medicine during the last half century." Professor Henry Mott, Ph. D., F. C. S., says: "By a most careful analysis I have found Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey free from adulterations or foreign substances, and it deserves to meet with great success." The well-known Dr. R. W. Hutchinson of New York says: "I highly recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and prescribe it extensively in my practice." Rev. B. Mills of Princeton, Iowa, says: "I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with great benefit to my wife, who is a confirmed invalid. I know from experience it is a pure and most valuable medicine. I am also using it in the case of my son, who is threatened with consumption. I am a Presbyterian elergyman and a doctine of the says of the characteristic of the consumption. l am a Presbyterian elergyman and a doc-tor of divinity, but I am not afraid to recommend Duffy's Malt Whiskey as the purest and most efficient tanic that I know of, and my experience is a large one.

For the Guild of the Holy Child. A musical and literary entertainment was held at Grand Army Hall last night by the Guild of the Holy Child of St. John's Parish. The entertainment was an excellent one and the selections an excellent one and the selections brought forth considerable applause. Selections by the choristers of St. John's opened the entertainment, followed by a piano duet by Messrs. Kimball and Dashiel; singing by Miss Agnes Browne; violin solo by Miss Mattie Saxton; selections by Miss Shepard and a recitation by Miss Hendrie. After intermission, the Schubert quariette same several selections after quariette sang several selections, after which came a violin solo by Mr. Robert Stearns; solo by Miss Moore; piano solo by Miss Dashiell, and a selection by Miss Hausmann. The entertainment closed with a Mother Goose cotillion, which was composed of the young peo-ple of the Guild, who danced the cotillion and at the same time sang airs from Mother Goose melodies.

Totally Helpless

Curred by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The fact that rheumatism is caused by accumulation of acid in the blood, and the fac that Hood's Sarsaparilla has wonderful power in purifying the blood, explains the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in curing this

"In May, 1885, I was taken with sciation rheumatism in my legs and arms. It entirely prevented me from working, and I was con-fined to my bed entirely helpless. I had medical attendance, and in August I was just able to move around. I was reduced to a mere skeleton and my appetite was entirely gone. It was thought by all my friends that I could not possibly live. I took almost every thing I could hear of, but with no good re sults, during that winter. One day, reading about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla in March, about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla in March, April and May, I concluded to try it. One bottle gave me so much relief that I took four bottles, and since then I have not been troubled with rheumatism, and my general health has never been better. My appetite is increasing and I am gaining in fiesh. I attribute my whole improvement to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I carnestly recommend it to all who are troubled with like disease. I consider it the grandest medicine-ever put up." Ws. F. Taylon, Emporium. ever put up." WM. F. TAYLOR, Emporium,
